Profile of The Gambia
The Republic of the Gambia is the smallest country in mainland Africa. It is situated in the West Cost and is dissected by the River Gambia. The Gambia is bordered by the Republic of Senegal on the North, East, and South boarders, with the Atlantic Ocean to its West. Banjul is the capital city of this former English colony of two million inhabitants and English is the official language. The Gambia gained its independence in 1965 and has since built an economy that relies heavily on tourism, campaigning on the popular slogan ‘the smiling coast of Africa.’
